

Communications Adviser

FF04 Marketing, communication and content · ISCO-08 2432 · CBS 0311 Adviseurs marketing, public relations en sales · seniority medior · Also known as: Communications Consultant, Corporate Communications Adviser

Advises the board and line management on communication about policy, change and reputation, and turns this into messages, channels and press lines.

The communications adviser is a staff role close to decision making, focused on internal communication, change communication and reputation. Unlike a marketer, the goal is not sales but understanding, support and control of perception. Selection goes wrong when writing skill and channel knowledge dominate, while this role depends on contradicting a board that wants to send a message the organisation cannot live up to.

5 Behavioural anchors per skill

Anchors sit at N1, N3 and N5. N2 and N4 are deliberately not anchored: raters interpolate between them, following the O*NET convention.

Skill	N1	N3	N5
Written expression Putting thoughts into correct and readable text with a logical paragraph structure, fitting tone and word choice suited to the reader.	Writes short messages and reports free of language errors after using a checking tool and a review round by a colleague.	Independently writes texts with opening, core and closing, chooses a tone per audience and applies fixed terms consistently.	Draws up the writing guide and house style for the organisation, approves publications on content and develops the writing skill of teams.
Advisory skill Sharpening the question of a client and delivering a well founded recommendation in a way that the receiver adopts and implements it.	Supplies requested information and explains a standard recommendation following the fixed structure used by the team.	Reframes the question behind the question, offers two supported options with consequences and agrees a decision moment.	Advises the board on issues with conflicting interests, challenges established assumptions and safeguards the quality of advice across the organisation.

Stakeholder management Mapping who has an interest in an initiative and maintaining contact with those parties so that decisions keep their support.	Maintains a list of those involved and informs them about progress according to the agreed rhythm.	Assesses influence and interest per party, chooses a fitting form of contact and discusses conflicting wishes before a decision is taken.	Maintains a network reaching governance and political bodies, connects parties with differing interests and safeguards the position of the organisation.
Internal and change communication Informing and involving colleagues across the organisation through internal channels so that they know what is changing and what is expected of them.	Posts supplied messages on the intranet and checks whether the target group has seen the message.	Creates a communication plan for a team change, chooses channel and timing per group and organises room for questions.	Sets the communication strategy for a reorganisation, aligns with board and works council and measures the effect on trust and behaviour.
Content creation for target audiences Creating text, image and video for a defined audience and channel, with a message that prompts reading, viewing or action.	Creates a post following an existing format, selects a fitting photo and checks rights and accessibility.	Determines message, form and channel per audience, produces the content and improves it based on reach figures.	Sets the content strategy and brand guidelines, allocates resources across channels and accounts for results to the executive team.
Content marketing Devises, creates and schedules text, images and video for the channels of the organisation so the target group is reached and engaged.	Publishes supplied posts according to the content calendar and checks language, imagery and links before publication.	Creates an own content calendar per target group, writes the texts and steers on reach and engagement.	Determines the content policy and brand voice of the organisation and decides on the use of editors, agency and channels.
Creative thinking Looks at an issue from unusual angles, combines existing elements in a new way and comes up with own ideas.	Contributes an own idea in a meeting for a small improvement within the own task.	Puts several unusual solution directions side by side for a stuck problem and works out the most promising direction further.	Breaks through common assumptions in the field, brings in renewing solution directions and gives others room to experiment.
Editing and plain language Shortening, reordering and rewriting existing texts in plainer language without losing content, nuance or legal meaning.	Removes redundant words and repetitions from a text and corrects spelling according to a given checklist.	Rewrites a formal letter to plain language level B1 and explains to the author which choices were made.	Introduces an organisation wide plain language approach, measures readability of core products and adjusts standards based on user testing.

Skill	N1	N3	N5
Storytelling Bringing a message in narrative form with characters, tension and a core point, so that the listener remembers and retells the content.	Uses an example from practice to make a figure or a rule understandable for colleagues in the team.	Builds a story with starting situation, turning point and outcome around a client case and links it to the message.	Develops the story of the organisation, has it recur across all channels and teaches managers to tell it themselves.
organisational awareness Recognising how formal and informal relations, interests and decision making work in the organisation and taking these into account in own actions.	Asks who needs to be involved in a topic before a proposal is shared with others.	Assesses which interests a proposal touches, involves the right people beforehand and chooses a suitable moment to raise it.	Sees through relations between organisational units and external parties and steers decision making by organising support at an early stage.
Media relations and spokespersonship Speaking to journalists on behalf of the organisation, holding key messages under pressure and judging the reputational consequences of statements.	Refers press questions to the spokesperson, records the question and uses only factual information that has been released.	Gives an interview about own dossier independently, holds to three key messages and corrects incorrect assumptions immediately.	Acts as lead spokesperson during a crisis, sets the communication line with the board and restores trust with press and public.
Customer segmentation and targeting Divides customers and prospects into groups with comparable needs and value and chooses which groups the organisation will target.	Assigns customers to existing segments using recorded characteristics and reports doubtful cases.	Builds a segmentation from customer data and behaviour and explains the need and the value for each segment.	Establishes the segmentation model for the organisation, links it to offering and channels and revises it when markets shift.
Applying brand positioning and visual identity Determines or safeguards what the brand stands for and ensures that language, imagery and behaviour in communications match it.	Uses the prescribed logos, colours and templates and checks with others when in doubt about a publication.	Tests publications from team and suppliers against the brand principles and corrects deviations with an explanation.	Recalibrates the brand positioning of the organisation and sets the guidelines all publications must meet.

Skill	N1	N3	N5
Idea generation Produces many and varied ideas in a short time, alone or with a group, and keeps generating separate from judging.	Delivers several suggestions in an idea round without rejecting or judging them straight away.	Leads an idea session for the team with a suitable format, collects dozens of ideas and groups them by theme.	Sets up idea processes organisation wide, involves customers and partners in them and keeps ideas findable and reusable.
Visual communication and data storytelling Presenting figures and processes in charts, graphs and diagrams that support the message and lead the reader to the correct conclusion.	Creates a chart in an existing template, adds a title and names the unit shown on the axis.	Chooses a fitting chart type per message, removes unnecessary styling and writes the conclusion above the figure.	Sets guidelines for visualisation and dashboard use across the organisation and judges whether displayed figures represent reality fairly.
Social media communication Managing business accounts on social networks, publishing posts and responding to reactions within the rules of the organisation and the platform.	Publishes approved posts with the correct tags and reports negative reactions to the administrator of the account.	Manages a channel independently, replies to questions within an hour and uses statistics to choose posting moments.	Sets policy for conduct on social networks, arranges monitoring and leads the response when a public row emerges.
external awareness Following developments among clients, in the market, in technology and in regulation and naming their consequences for own work and the organisation.	Reads the information provided about clients and rules and names what this means for own tasks.	Follows sources outside the organisation systematically and uses those signals when adjusting working methods within the team.	Translates societal and market developments into strategic choices and positions the organisation with relevant external parties in good time.
Prompting and task delegation to AI Divides work between person and AI system, formulates task, context and required output format and adjusts based on the output.	Gives an AI tool a single task with a clear question and required format and uses the result after checking it.	Splits a work task into steps, decides which step AI does and which not and improves the instruction based on outcomes.	Develops organisation wide practices for dividing tasks with AI and trains others in effective and responsible instruction giving.

Skill	N1	N3	N5
Improving customer journey and experience Maps the steps a customer goes through, measures where friction occurs and implements improvements in process and contact.	Records customer complaints and remarks in the agreed format and passes them on to the process owner.	Maps out the customer journey for a service, names the three largest bottlenecks and implements improvements with those involved.	Sets the standard for customer experience in the organisation and directs improvement programmes across departments.
Marketing strategy Chooses target groups, message, channels and budget for a period and links those choices to goals for awareness, leads and revenue.	Carries out parts of an existing marketing plan and reports for each action what it delivered.	Draws up a marketing plan for a service or market with goals, channel choice and budget and adjusts it on results.	Determines the marketing strategy of the organisation, allocates the budget across channels and accounts for the return to the board.
Flexibility Adjusts working method, planning and behaviour when the situation or the request changes, while keeping the agreed result intact.	Switches to a different task as soon as the supervisor asks and leaves the work in hand in an orderly state.	Revises the approach independently when the request changes, keeps stakeholders informed and still delivers the result within the boundaries.	Builds processes and organisational forms that adapt quickly to new circumstances and decides when the overall course changes.
Marketing analytics and attribution Measures the effect of marketing efforts with dashboards and models and attributes revenue and leads to channels and campaigns.	Pulls the standard reports from the analytics tool and puts the key figures into the weekly overview.	Builds a dashboard per channel, checks the measurement setup and explains which campaign delivered which result.	Chooses the attribution model for the organisation, weighs its limitations and steers budget allocation on the outcomes.
GDPR and privacy in practice Knows privacy legislation requirements for own work, which legal basis and retention period apply and recognises when notification is required.	Processes personal data only according to the applicable work instruction and refers doubtful cases to the privacy officer.	Judges in own processes whether a legal basis exists, applies data minimisation and handles requests from data subjects correctly.	Sets privacy policy, decides on high risk processing operations and represents the organisation towards the supervisory authority.

6 Assessment methods and validity

The validities are the corrected meta-analytic estimates from Sackett, Zhang, Berry and Lievens (2022) in the Journal of Applied Psychology, which replace the older Schmidt and Hunter (1998) figures. The spread matters as much as the mean: with a high SD, validity varies strongly by context.

Assessment method	rho	SD	What it is
Werkproef	0.33	0.09	The candidate performs a representative work sample under standardised conditions.
Assessment center	0.29	0.09	Multiple exercises, multiple assessors, dimension-wise scoring.

Structureerd interview	0.42	0.19	Behaviour-based interview with fixed questions and a rating scale per question.
Kennistoets	0.40	0.13	Test of declarative job knowledge, usually assembled per client.

8 How to use this profile

1. Agree the profile with the hiring manager before the first candidate is measured. Weights shifted afterwards make the outcome indefensible.
2. Choose the assessment method per skill from the Assessment method column. Combine at most three methods per candidate.
3. Calibrate the assessors in a two-hour session using the anchors in chapter 5. Anchors without rater training deliver little.
4. Fill in the match calculator and discuss the gaps in the development conversation. Type A and type G are selection criteria, not one-quarter development goals.
